Salt Lake City to Denver

Dublin to Amsterdam

Frankfurt to Marseille

Paris to Marseille

Mexico

Coast to Coast Low Latency Ring:

Connect key markets on both coasts with a low latency route designed for optimal performance and 400G capabilities.

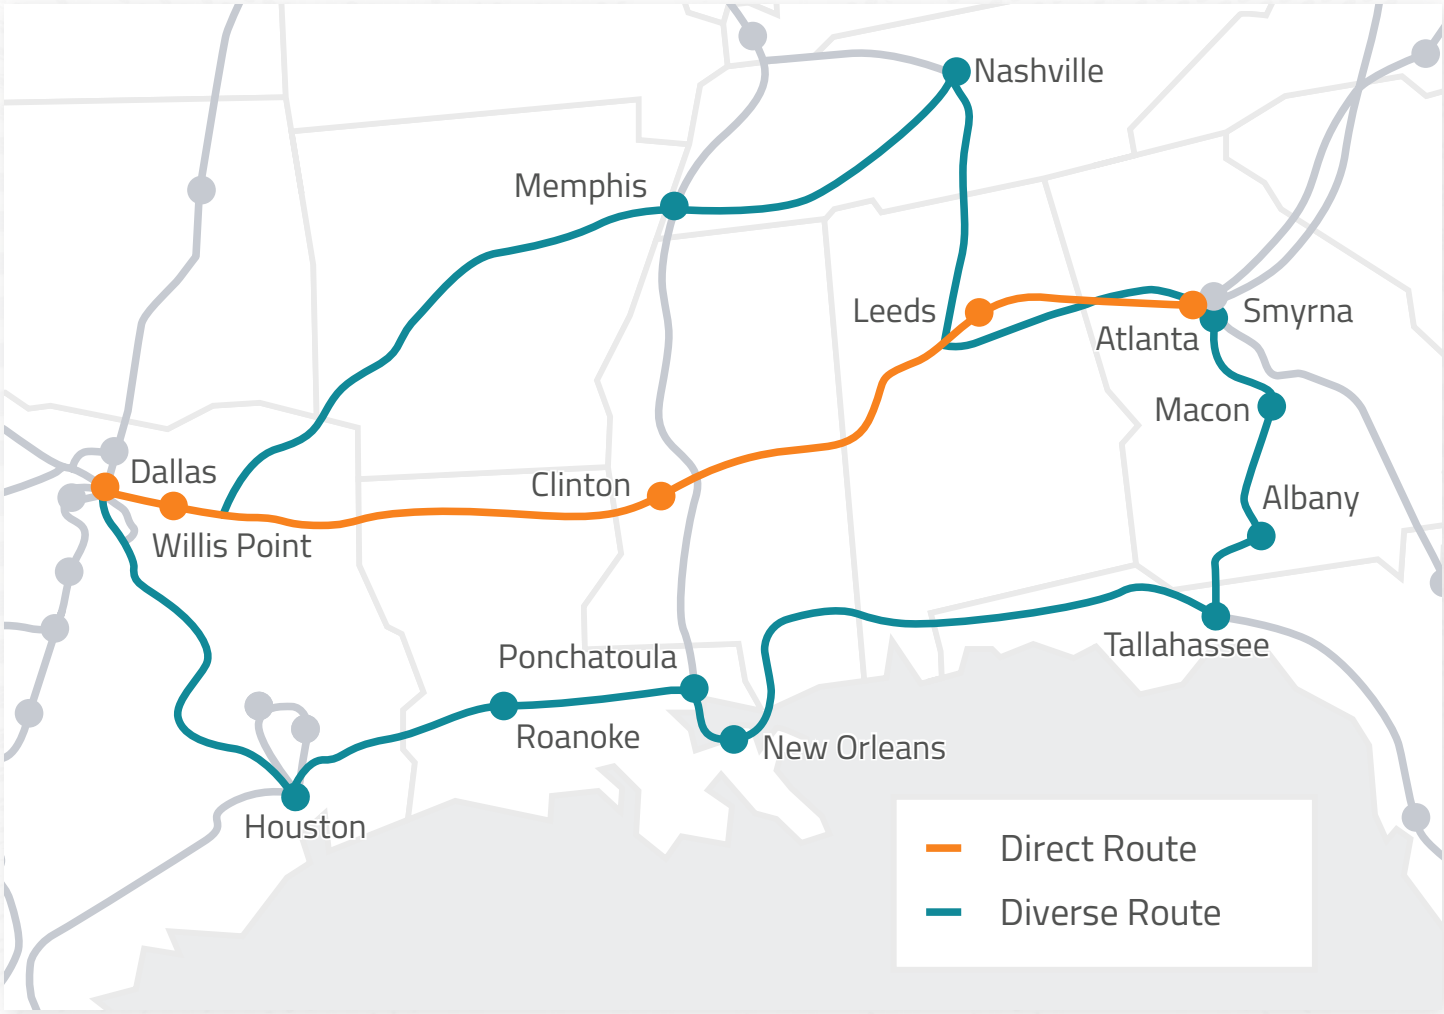

Chicago to New York (Spread Networks) Ultra-Low Latency (ULL) Flagship Route:

Connecting key financial exchanges and data centers in Chicago and New York via a high-bandwidth, ULL route, designed for optimal performance.

Dallas to Atlanta

Constructed to be diverse from all existing routes, this is the most unique lowest latency and direct route available 100% underground between Dallas and Atlanta.

Columbus to Ashburn

This direct route connects key markets in the north east providing the lowest latency option for Chicago to Ashburn on 100% underground Zayo Owned Fiber.

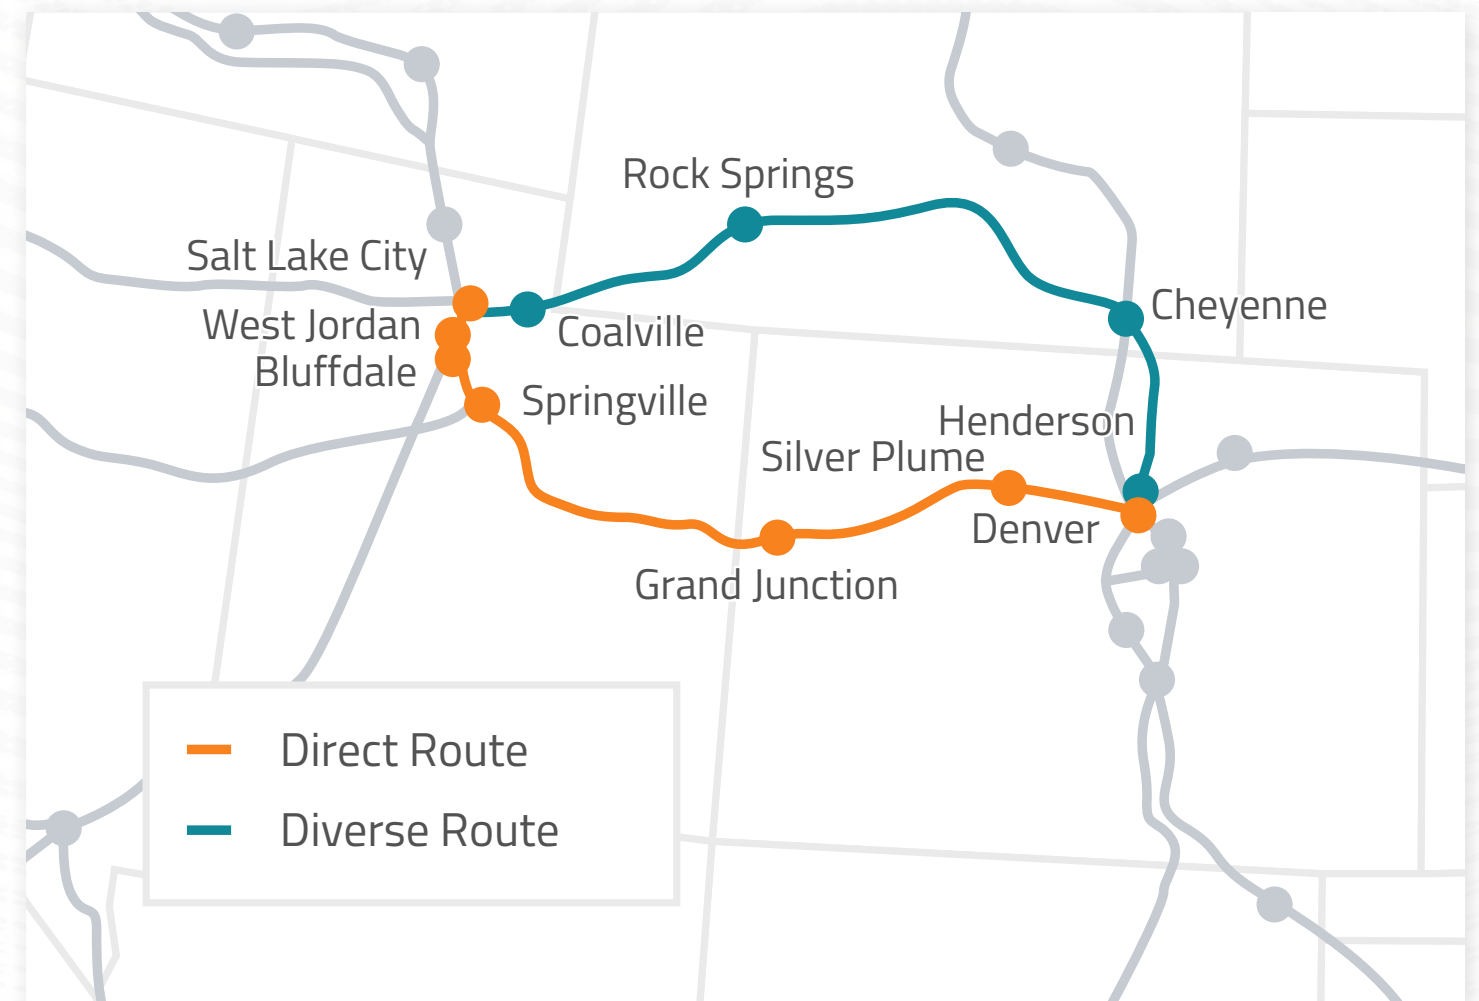

Los Angeles to Phoenix to Dallas

Multiple routing options from LA to Dallas including the most direct LA to Phoenix route.

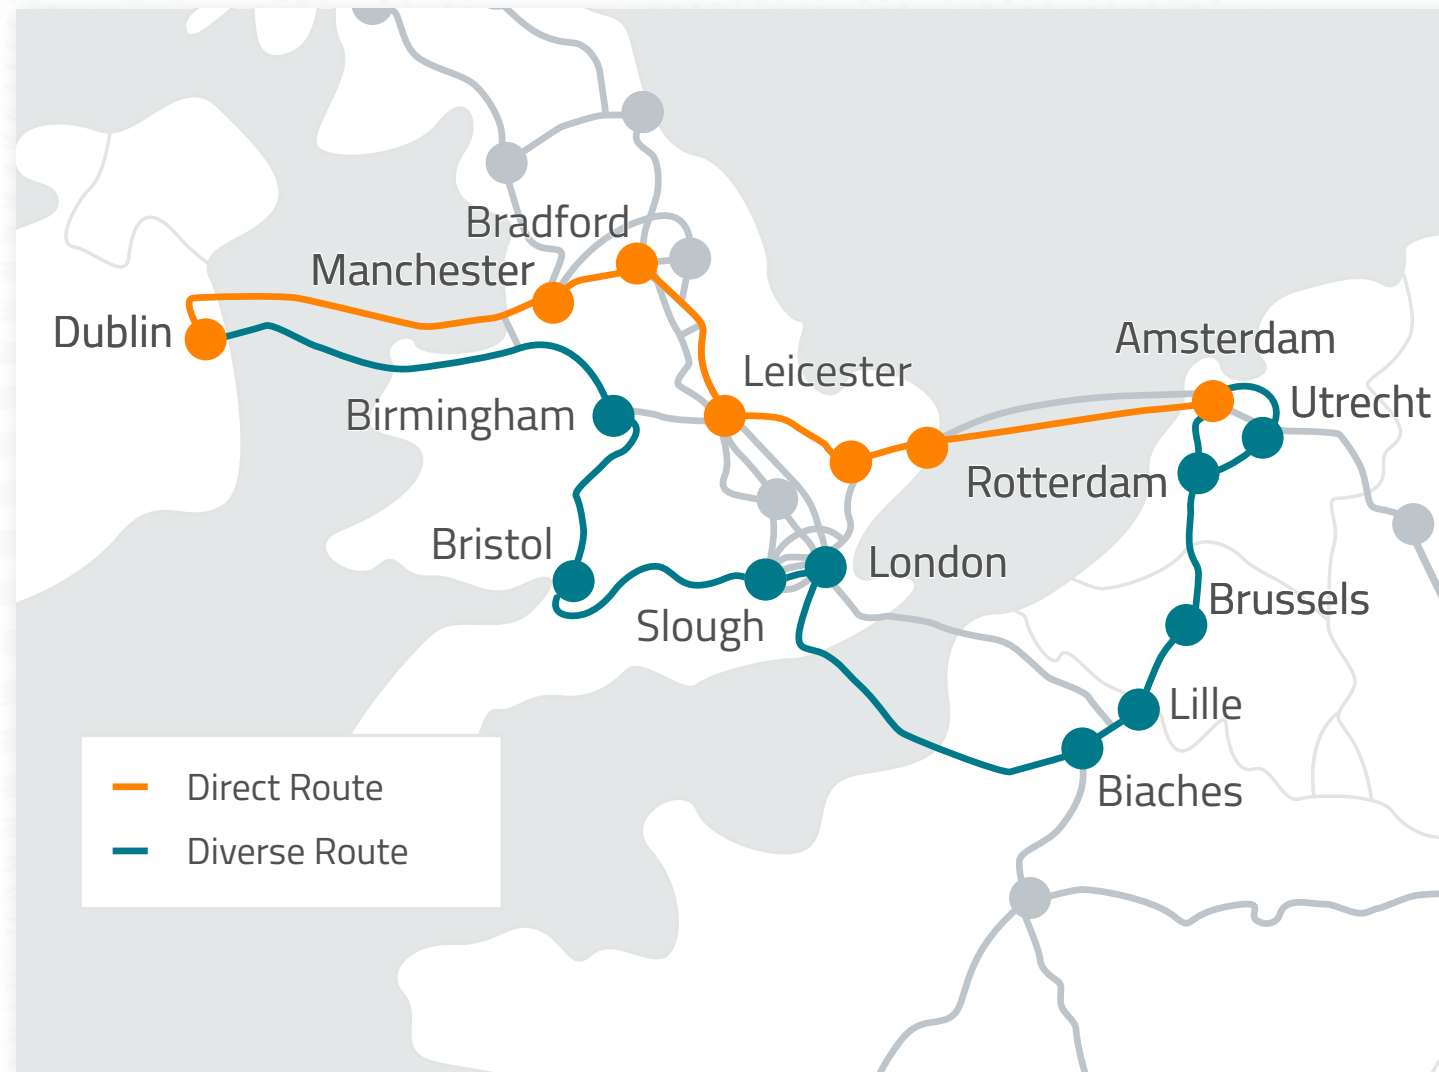

Salt Lake City to Denver

Zayo's completed Trans-Rockies "I-70" route provides the lowest latency route from the Bay Area to New York on Zayo owned fiber.

Dublin to Amsterdam

Customized connectivity with high-bandwidth Wavelength solutions between Dublin and Amsterdam that avoid London.

Frankfurt to Marseille

Zayo fiber enables global connectivity and best-in-class network performance between Marseille and Frankfurt.

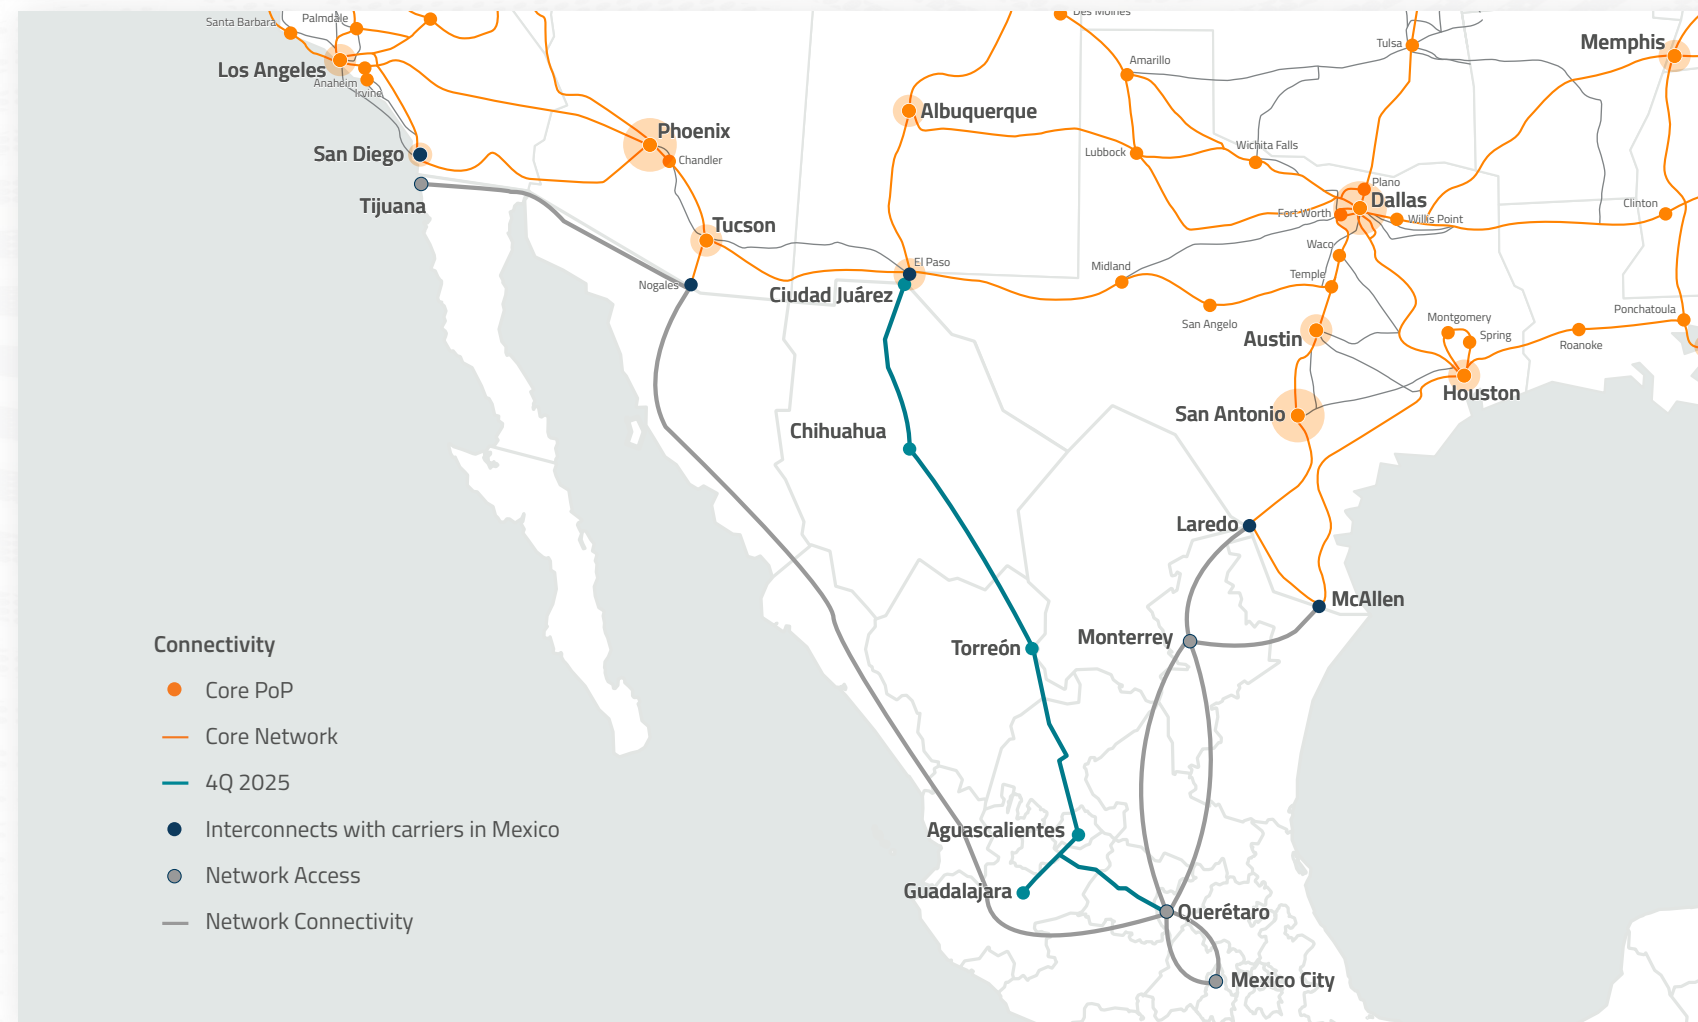

Paris to Marseille

With Zayo's fiber infrastructure between Paris and Marseille, our core network services here enable hyperscale and carrier customers to replicate data internationally in real-time.

Mexico

Zayo with Fermaca Networks, a leading provider of long-haul dark fiber infrastructure in Mexico, are partnering to bring network connectivity into markets across Mexico. In late 2025, Zayo, in partnership with Fermaca will provide a long-haul fiber route – the newest fiber route to be built in Mexico in 20 years.
